

Krishni Muruganathan- Head Girl

When I walked into Heathfield School in Year 7, I was a small, frightened and shy individual, but I think that I can safely say that during the course of my six years at Heathfield I have evolved into a mature, responsible and confident leader. Now that I am embarking on my final year, I look back over my Heathfield days with great joy and I realise how lucky I have been to be able to attend such a warm, friendly and encouraging school. Heathfield is not just a school, but a family, a family in which each individual's strengths and skills are recognised, promoted and celebrated.

Heathfield not only places great emphasis on academics, which has allowed the school to grow from strength to strength, as girls have consistently achieved brilliant results, but the importance of extra curricular activities is also recognised. I have had the wonderful opportunity of participating in The Lionheart Challenge, Young Enterprise and the Duke of Edinburgh Award Scheme to name a few and each activity has taught me invaluable skills and allowed me to develop my leadership abilities.

Heathfield's beauty however does not cease with the activities on offer, as the school also offers a wide range of facilities to assist the students in their development. These facilities range from the wonderful Learning Resources Centre where girls can find books from a wide range of authors for reading and an extensive choice of material for research, to the new purpose built Sixth Form establishment, the Pinner Leadership Centre. The PLC contains a conference room, a media suite and a study a room, giving the sixth formers space to work in a highly professional environment.

Heathfield's staff and students work closely together and the students are given the utmost support and guidance throughout their years to ensure that each girl leaves the school after year thirteen prepared for tomorrow's world, as a leader not a follower!
